

#POLICE SPIES OUTofLIVES

legal action court hearing
new battle against secrecy
please show your support

LONDON:

Tues 18 March 2014 9-10am

Solidarity picket outside court

Royal Courts of Justice, The Strand,
London, WC2 (Holborn or Temple tube)

Eight women are taking legal action against the police after being deceived into relationships with undercover officers.

On Tuesday 18 March 2014 their case will be in court for a preliminary hearing – more details overleaf > > >

During the week of this hearing,

please show your support for the women

- join us on the picket, or for more ideas see overleaf > > >

www . police spies out of lives . org . uk

Eight women are taking legal action against the police after being deceived into relationships with undercover officers.

On Tuesday 18 March 2014 their case will be in court for a preliminary hearing:

- Five of the women will face an attempt by the police to have their common law claims struck out. The police claim that as they can 'neither confirm nor deny' (NCND) anything about undercover policing, the trial should not proceed.
- These are the common law claims of "deceit, assault, misfeasance in public office and negligence".
- The police are also applying (should their application for a strike-out fail) for secrecy measures against the women's case.

Join us outside court on Tuesday 18 March, 9-10am

What else can I do? 17-21 March 2014
week of solidarity action
(see the website for details for each action)

- Gather with your friends in solidarity
- Support us on social media
- Sign up to the supporters' email list
- Add your name to the 'Where We Stand' solidarity statement – and ask your groups to do the same
- If you are a journalist or blogger, write articles about the case - ask to be added to the press list

www . police spies out of lives . org . uk